

Orders by Post: How long will it take to process/receive my order?

All orders for CDs that are processed through PayPal are usually reviewed and processed during the same business day that they are received and posted the following day.

Echeque orders received through PayPal will be processed the same way except they will be posted when the Echeque is cleared.

Orders are generally sent by post. The Australian Post Office claim that anything posted in Australia is usually delivered around the world in 4 to 14 days. It is our experience that an order processed through PayPal is often delivered in about 5 to 8 days from posting.

NB. The Australian Post Office does not have any service quicker than Air Mail. And there is no cost effective tracking service available for international shipping (If anyone does find one please let us know) We have researched other courier companies and there are none that will do a fast service for less than $42.00AUS and they still have 4 business days minimum to international destinations.
